

The safety and well being of our audiences, volunteers, artists, and staff are the highest priority at Ankeny Community Theatre.

As we all continue to monitor the novel coronavirus COVID-19, we want to make you aware of the measures we have implemented to safeguard the health of those visiting, rehearsing, seeing a production or taking class with us. These measures are also to help to stop the spread of normal colds and flu.

Ankeny Community Theatre is staying current on the CDC, World Health Organization, and Iowa Department of Public Health information.

Currently all performances and rehearsals are taking place as scheduled. We will notify you if changes are necessary.

ACT will continue to take care of cleanliness in our space, by disinfecting and sanitizing all public areas. We will continue to have ample supplies of soap and paper towels on hand.

As always, we encourage all who participate in activities at ACT to:

- Wash hands frequently with soap for at least 20 seconds
- Cough/sneeze into your arm
- Avoid touching your face
- Stay home if you are ill

If you are a person who is immune-compromised or in a high risk category, please take extra precautions during this time and carefully evaluate whether you should stay away from groups of people.

If you are in this category and are currently working with ACT on a production, let your director know.

If you are in this category and have purchased tickets to an upcoming performance, contact us at info@ankenycommunitytheatre.com

Your health and safety comes first! If you are ill, please respect our other patrons, actors, and volunteers by staying home.

Thanks for your cooperation and continued support.
